DETAILED ACTION

The Amendment filed on October 27, 2002 has been acknowledged.

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The Milonni et al. reference, listed in the specification, is missing from the IDS filed on May 24, 2002. Please provide a copy of the reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minoura et al. in view of Admitted Prior Art of pages 7-8 (APA).

Minoura et al. discloses all the claimed features of the invention including:

- a device (Fig. 1) for forming an image on a printing plate (5) comprising:

Art Unit: 2861

- at least one semiconductor laser (1) being operated in multi-mode, being mode-coupled (column 1, lines 33-34), and emitting laser radiation (column 1, lines 12-14) having ultra-short pulses with a duration of less than 1 ns; and
- an optical system (Fig. 1) for forming an image of radiation from the laser on the printing plate (Fig. 1).

However, Minoura et al. does not disclose emitting ultra-short pulses with a duration of less than 1 ns.

Nevertheless, APA discloses a mode coupling method for the purpose of emitting ultra-short pulses with a duration of less than 1 ns (page 7, lines 22-25).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Minoura et al. with a mode coupling method as disclosed by APA for the purpose of emitting ultra-short pulses with a duration of less than 1 ns.

Claims 4, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minoura et al. in view of APA as applied to claims 1, 12, and 13 above, and further in view of Rothrock (US 3,657,510).

Minoura et al. as modified further discloses a modulator (2).

However, Minoura et al. as modified does not disclose:

- said one laser has a supply current with ac and dc components;
- said optical system for forming an image of the radiation on the printing plate has reflective elements;
- said optical system has micro-optical elements;

Nevertheless, Rothrock discloses a laser has a supply current with ac (ac power to 12) and dc (dc current to 11) components for the purpose of providing power from the light source, an optical system for forming an image of the radiation on the printing plate has reflective elements (14, 22) for the purpose of enlarging a laser pattern, an optical system has micro-optical elements (column 3, lines 45-49) for the purpose of focusing down the pattern.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Minoura et al. as modified with ac and dc components, reflective elements, and micro-optical elements as disclosed by Rothrock for the purposes of providing power from the light source, enlarging, and focusing down a laser pattern.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minoura et al. in view of APA as applied to claims 1, 12, and 13 above, and further in view of Huber (US 5,208,819).

Minoura et al. as modified discloses all the claimed limitations except a control arrangement for temperature regulation of the laser.

Nevertheless, Huber discloses a control arrangement (12 controls power of laser) for the purpose of controlling the intensity of the signal.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Minoura et al. with a laser control as disclosed by Huber for the purpose of controlling the intensity of the signal.

Claims 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minoura et al. in view of APA as applied to claims 1, 12, and 13 above, and further in view of Rothrock as applied to claims 4, 9, and 10 above and further in view of Haas (US 5,874,981).

Minuora et al. as further modified by Rothrock discloses a laser array (array of laser head, Fig. 1) comprising individually drivable single-strip diode lases (Fig. 1).

However, Minoura et al. as modified does not disclose that said at least one laser array is a diode laser array.

Nevertheless, Haas discloses a diode laser array (column 1, lines 14-16) for the purpose of supplying a writing beam.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Minuora et al. as modified with a diode laser array as disclosed by Haas for the purpose of supplying a writing beam.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
